

Have you ever had any questions about what it takes to be Certified Human Factors professional?

Attend the Foundation for Professional Ergonomists (FPE) free webinar:
“What is Certification and What’s in it for You”

On August 22, 2018 at 1:00 PM (Eastern), Noon (Central), 11:00 AM (Mountain), 10:00 AM (Pacific), Andrew Imada will cover the following topics:

- What is ergonomics certification anyway?
- Why you should be certified.
- How this could affect you
- How you may feel about the process.
- What you can do about it.

The presentation will last about thirty minutes and there will be time for questions. The Executive Director of the Board of Certification in Professional Ergonomics (BCPE), Carol Stuart-Buttle will also be on hand to answer questions about the certification application process.

To register send an email to info@ergofoundation.org

Andrew S. Imada is a Past President of the Human Factors and Ergonomics Society (HFES) and is a world expert in Macroergonomics. After spending 20 years teaching human factors as a systems approach at the University of Southern California, Dr. Imada made the transition to full time consultant. He has received more than a dozen international awards and recognition for his work. He has been a keynote speaker at over twenty major conferences around the world. He has written numerous book chapters on macroergonomics. In addition to HFES, Dr. Imada served as President of International Ergonomics Association and served as Director on the BCPE. He is a Board Certified Professional Ergonomist.

